

A House of Mirrors I* for bass clarinet and accordion (2008)

- Two instrumental parts that unfold independently from one another
- The same compositional technique applies to both
- Each exists in its own right, yet they still have something in common