

Images for flute (also piccolo and bass flute) solo (2009)

Music as an image of real sounds: a sound sample recorded outside, lasting approximately one minute, was transferred as precisely as possible to the piccolo, then doubled in length and transposed to a lower pitch. The resulting 'doubles' for flute and/or bass flute contain elements which appear only marginally in the piccolo piece. The musical image distances itself ever more from the 'real' original.